

LOUISIANA AND NORTH CAROLINA TO ACT ON SUFFRAGE SOON

RALEIGH, N. C., May 6.—Action of the Democratic state convention recently in adopting a platform plank for ratification of the woman suffrage amendment will be followed by a special session of the legislature about July 1.

Louisiana is the only state to have a session before North Carolina but Suffrage leaders say no matter what action is taken in Louisiana it will have no effect on the fight for ratification in North Carolina.

If Louisiana were to act favorably it would make the 36th state but on account of some uncertainty over the ratification in Ohio legislature, because of referendum involved, suffrage advocates are anxious to have 37 states ratify the amendment.

Opinion is divided here as to action the North Carolina legislature will take. In view of the fact that both political organizations in the state have adopted platforms including planks favoring suffrage, many party leaders believe the amendment will be ratified. Besides Governor Blackett, many Democratic party leaders in the state have come out for the amendment, including Secretary Daniels, Senator Simmons and Congressman Hoyer. The legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic.

Opponents of suffrage believe the

THE LONGEST TUNNEL

The longest and largest tunnel in the world will probably soon be built under the Hudson River to connect New York with New Jersey. There are several tunnels large enough for a railroad train but the new tube under the river is to be large enough to allow two or three large buses or automobiles to run abreast. The tunnel will be much more than a mile in length and thirty feet or more in diameter. It is estimated that 6,046 vehicles can pass in both directions every hour in such a tunnel, which is more than twice as many as pass up and down Fifth Avenue, probably the busiest street today in the world. The great problem of the tunnel is to provide ventilation, since the tube will be 3,800 feet long between the ventilating shafts. Fresh air will be forced in and the bad air allowed to escape by an elaborate system of pipes.—May Boys' Life.

amendment will either be defeated in the legislature or by the voters in the state. They think the legislature will follow Senator Overman's idea and propose a state constitutional amendment giving women the vote, thus putting the suffrage question up to the voters, who, they believe, will reject it.

Albert Ray and Elinor Fair are coming in what is said to be the best and most distinctive offering they have presented to date. It is entitled "Love is Love," an intensely dramatic story and shows young Albert Ray in the part of a youth who has been forced into adding thieves despite the revolt of the good that is in him—which at last triumphs through the influence of his love for a beautiful girl (played by Miss Fair). The boy is drawn up from his criminal environment and finally realizes his ambition to become somebody in the world.

Douglas MacLean
"Twenty-three and a Half Hours Leave" is the title of an amusing comedy photodrama.

The story concerns the escapades and adventures of one Sergeant Gray in the army, who manages to tumble from one scrape into another but always lands on his feet. Among other things he makes a bet with a fellow soldier that the general will invite him to have breakfast with him and eat bran muffins.

How Sergeant Gray wins his bet—and a wife—is told on the screen in a very entertaining manner. It is full of absurd situations but is woven together logically.

Nazimova
The title "Eye For Eye," which has been given to the super-feature in which the distinguished and talented actress, Nazimova, is starred, was chosen for the production by the actress herself.

The picture is a screen adaptation of the stage play, "L'Occident," written by the Belgian dramatist, Henri Kistmaecker, but Madame Nazimova did not consider the French title a good one to use and so adapted the Biblical words "an eye for an eye" to a tooth for a tooth, which expresses the idea of the plot where a young Arabian girl wishes to take revenge into her own hands and demand "an eye for an eye" without the formality of the law of the land in which she lived.—Adv.

Big Corporation
Building Houses To Order For Employees

PITTSBURGH, April 28.—Important industrial corporations in the Pittsburgh district are financing home building operations by their employees to relieve the house shortage in mill and mining communities. For the general public, trust companies have adopted similar plans, and are now accepting what they term "installment mortgages" to encourage house erection.

The most ambitious program of the lot is that of the United States Steel Corporation. Under this plan an employee, who is willing to make an initial investment of ten per cent of the total cost, is permitted to select from a large number of plans the kind of house that will suit his family. He then picks out a lot, usually near his place of employment, and the corporation's architects and builders do the rest. When the house is completed, it is turned over to the employee who pledges himself to pay for it in monthly installments covering a period of ten years, the total cost being just what the cost has been to the corporation. Although the plan is scarcely a month old, the bureau in charge of building is already swamped with applications.

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company also has a building plan, and has just completed and sold to employees 50 houses at cost. They too are to be paid for on the installment plan. Another and a much larger program is in preparation.

The merit of these plans, builders say, is that materials can be purchased in large quantities, and the saving passed on to the workman buyer, who thus gets a much better home for less money than if he had bought the material and erected the house as an individual.

Moving Day, which is May Day, is expected to prove a trying time to many persons, according to real estate and renting agents. Rents have advanced steadily during the past two years until now they are from 25 to 100 per cent higher than in the early days of the war. A Renters' League has been formed for the purpose of fighting the legal battles of persons who may be evicted because of their inability to pay the increases which have become operative May 1. The League has opened an office, retained counsel and already is asking the public to send in its complaints. Leaders in the union labor movement are prominent in the League.

WOMAN HOLDS CABINET
PORTFOLIO IN TURKEY

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—A striking illustration of the general emancipation of Turkish women which has been effected by the war is afforded by the designation of Mrs. Halide Edib Haem, as Minister of Education, in Mustafa Kemal's cabinet.

Mrs. Haem is the wife of Dr. Adnan Bey, formerly president of the Turkish Red Crescent and until recently Mustafa Kemal's Minister of Health. She is 35 years old, the mother of three children, a devout Mohammedan and has attained fame as the author of several strongly pan-Islamic novels.

Shortly after Turkey entered the war the need for nurses became so great that women, for the first time, were permitted to accompany the armies and enter military hospitals as relief workers. They are said to have demonstrated remarkable efficiency in taking care of the wounded, a fact which soon made it possible for Turkish women to enter university classes with men. At the present time, however, they are still barred from theaters and amusements of various kinds, except special performances for women only.

Mrs. Halide Edib Haem is, perhaps, the most celebrated pioneer in the movement for the higher education of Turkish women. She was the first Turkish girl to graduate from the American woman's college here, despite the persistent opposition of former Sultan Abdul Hamid, who forced her to discontinue her studies many times.

Dr. Mary Mills Patrick, president of the college, and American diplomats in Turkey, always took a great interest in her struggle for education against such strong odds and she finally finished her course a number of years ago. Subsequently three of her sisters graduated from the same college.

Although educated in a school where the teachers were all Christians, she retained her Mohammedan faith but removed the black veil from her face as many other Turkish women have since done. She is a firm believer in the superior cultural value of Mohammed's teaching. Mrs. Haem resided for a time in England and other European countries. She is slight in build, but has an attractive face and possesses strong convictions on the subject of Turkish nationalism. Because of her unusual power as an orator, she has been a popular speaker in behalf of the nationalist movement in Anatolia.

TO MOVE MOUNTAINS WITH ATOMS

The great English scientist, Sir Oliver Lodge, remarked recently that he might soon be utilizing the energy of the atom or molecule, so that a few ounces of matter would serve to run a steamship. Scientists know for a certainty that the force, exerted by molecules or atoms is very great and practically inexhaustible. The most familiar instance is radium, which gives out energy for thousands of years without failing. Some of these days we will discover how to treat metals so that this energy can be released and utilized. The energy locked up in this way will do all the work of the world.—May Boys' Life.

HAWAII SUGAR STOCKS
RAPIDLY BEING SOLD TO MAINLAND INVESTORS

Unless Hawaiian holders of stock in local plantations cease their present practice of selling to mainland investors, it is only a question of time until control of the Hawaiian plantations shall pass out of our hands into those of strangers. This is the prophecy of Charles J. Heiser, treasurer of the Trust Trust Company of Honolulu, in a recent issue of "TrustTrusts," house organ of that company.

In support of this claim, Mr. Heiser quotes figures on the shares of stock of Oahu, Oahu Pioneer, Hawaiian Commercial and the Hawaiian Sugar Company, which are at the present time the leaders in Mainland transactions. He gives these figures over a period of years, and then translates the number of shares into dollars and cents, using an assumed price paid by mainlanders as the translating medium.

For example, Mr. Heiser's figures show that during the year just passed 22,338 shares of Oahu, 11,873 of Pioneer, 12,392 of Oahu, 8,686 of H. C. & S., and 3762 of Hawaiian Sugar have been sold. The estimated prices of sale are rather below present markets, and therefore may be looked upon as conservative. Estimated sale price of Oahu was $40, Pioneer $38, Oahu $12, H. C. & S. $50, and Hawaiian Sugar $38. Multiplying the number of shares of each plantation by the estimated cost per share, and then adding the whole, gives a grand total of $2,071,554 worth of stock, represented in 60,041 shares of these plantations.

Commenting upon this situation Mr. Heiser says:

"This means that around $2,000,000 of our most active sugar issues have passed out of control of local investors during the past year or so and in many instances the shares were sold by local persons with the view of buying in gain at a lower figure at a later date. It remains to be seen whether this will be possible. We doubt if mainland investors will care to part with their holdings now that they have become familiar with this type of investment. We have always argued that one of the interesting and desirable features of the industrial life of Hawaii is in which we have had much profit as the ownership by the people themselves of the chief industry of the territory. It requires no great imagination to picture these figures to be in this movement a gradual acquisition by mainland interests of large blocks of our best investments. If continued at its present rate, it will ultimately mean that all but the large blocks of closely held shares will leave our shores."

Ince Production

"Dangerous Hours," an Ince production, is a well acted story of social unrest, is up to date in theme and contains a number of sensational scenes. The dramatic crises are balanced by a love story that bears the charm of romance while one after seeing the film cannot fail to have his Americanism accentuated.

The story deals with a youth who finds himself inoculated with the virus of social revolution and aligns himself with agitators, whose dupe he becomes and as a result of which he spends a period in jail.

A misguided dreamer, influenced by visionary theories, he allows himself to be drawn into the "red" industrial uprisings which result in bloodshed and violence. Not until the playmate of his childhood years is the victim of a bomb does he come to his senses and realize the falsity of the tenets of violence as preached by the "reds." An understanding is effected and the old sweethearts are brought together again.

Marian Davies

Cecilia (Marian Davies), the lovely young daughter of Jerry Madden, a trickmaker, is left at the head of the household by the death of her invalid mother (Willette Kershaw), whose ambition that she might be a lady and wear a bonnet "with pink roses on" had never been realized. Jerry's fortunes take a turn through the success of his invention which has been patented by the kindly priest of the gas-house district, who also persuades him to use some of his wealth in educating his little girl. Cecilia is placed in a fashionable boarding-school, where her life is made miserable by the arrogant and unkind daughters of the idle rich, who laugh at her crude inexperience.

Cecilia's accidental meeting with Harry Twombly, a cousin of one of her schoolmates, the development of his friendship and love in spite of the obstacles which arise in the form of her own low birth, her brother's
